

The Tax Administration receives information on home addresses from the Population Register Centre. If you want your tax mail at another address, use this form to inform the Tax Administration of the address. The new mailing address becomes valid when the Tax Administration receives the notification. You can choose the start date of a temporary address.

Let the Tax Administration know your mailing address if you

- move to a sheltered home or a retirement home
- move abroad temporarily
- move to Finland temporarily
- live abroad but you have property in Finland (including real estate or an apartment)
- for any other reason wish to receive your tax mail at another address.

A permanent home address in Finland does not need to be reported to the Tax Administration. If you file a notification of move with the Finnish Population Information System, your new home address automatically becomes the mailing address. You can nevertheless provide the Tax Administration with another address for your tax mail.
