1 GENERAL

These instructions relate to the correcting and deleting of the following annual information returns in the Tax Administration's e-service:

- Annual information return on dividends
- Annual information return on cooperative surplus (instructions available only in Finnish and Swedish)
- Annual information return on capital refunds taxable as capital gains
- Annual information return on interest paid to non-resident taxpayers
- Annual information return on other payments to non-resident taxpayers
- Annual information return on dividends paid to non-resident taxpayers
- Annual information return on a non-listed limited liability company's share issue to employees
- Annual information return on other payments treated as earned income or capital income (instructions available only in Finnish and Swedish)

- Annual information return on shareholder loans treated as capital income and on their repayments (instructions available only in Finnish and Swedish)

Year-specific instructions for filling in the annual information returns are found at the bottom of the above pages.

When you are making corrections to annual information returns, use the same filing channel that you used for the original return. However, if you filed the return on paper, you can make corrections to it in the e-service.

2 DEADLINES FOR CORRECTIONS

If you filed an annual information return that contains an error, make a correction as soon as possible.

Make corrections to the 2021 annual information returns by 15 March 2022, so that all corrected information can be included in the pre-completed tax returns.

Corrections to annual information returns submitted by 27 April 2022 will be taken into account in the individual taxpayers' tax decisions.

If you make corrections after 27 April 2022, the corrections will be taken into account in tax assessment. If necessary, the taxes of the individuals concerned will be reassessed and their tax decisions will be adjusted.

3 MAKING CORRECTIONS AND DELETING PREVIOUSLY SUBMITTED INFORMATION

Before making corrections to an annual information return, check whether the error is in the identifying details or in other information. The way of correcting depends on where the error is. The identifying details are listed in chapter 4 of these instructions.

If there is an error in other than identifying details, correct it by submitting a new return in which the error is corrected and the other information is the same as in the original annual information return. If the error is in the specification details (i.e. data entered at Add specification), submit a correction return only on those taxpayers' specification details that are incorrect. See detailed instructions in chapter 3.1.

If there is an error in identifying details, first delete the incorrect annual information return. Then submit a new, corrected return. If the error is in the specification details (i.e. data entered at Add specification), submit a deletion report and a new return only on those taxpayers' specification details that are incorrect. See detailed instructions in chapter 3.2.

If you submitted an annual information return and notice an error in it during the same day, you can still edit the details. You can edit the information regardless of whether the error is in the identifying details or in the other information.

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Submitted tab, select the annual information return that you want to edit.
- Select Edit, make the corrections and submit the corrected return.

Annual information returns on dividends and cooperative surplus are structurally different from the other annual information returns in the e-service. See chapter 5 of these instructions to see how to correct annual information returns on dividends and surplus.

3.1 Making corrections – error in other than identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in other than identifying details, submit a new annual information return in which the error is corrected and the other information is the same as in the original annual information return. Submit a new annual information return only on those taxpayers' specifications that are incorrect.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Correct the incorrect details:
 - If the error is in taxpayer-specific specifications, hide from view the specifications that are correct. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.) Select Addition or correction for the taxpayer's details that are incorrect. Select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details and correct the incorrect information. Select OK. Correct all those taxpayers' specifications that are incorrect in the same way. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.
 - If the error is in other than taxpayer-specific specifications, correct it and go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

If you cannot use the original return as a template, do the following:

- On the home page of the e-service, select the return that you want to correct.
- Fill in the annual information return again with the corrected information.
 - If the error is in the basic details, submit the corrected basic details and all the taxpayers' specification details in the same way as in the original return. Basic details refer to the information entered before the Add specification section. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.
 - If the error is in the taxpayer-specific specification, enter the basic details in the same way as in the original return. Select Add specification. Select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details. Fill in the corrected specification details on the taxpayer whose information is incorrect. Correct the incorrect information and submit all the other information in the same way as in the original return. Select Add. Correct all those taxpayers' information that are incorrect in the same way. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

3.2 Making corrections – error in identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in identifying details, first delete the incorrect annual information return and then submit a new, corrected return. Delete and re-submit only those taxpayers' details that are incorrect. If the error is in the basic details (i.e. information entered before the Add specification section), delete all the taxpayers' specification details.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Delete the incorrect information:
 - If the error is in the taxpayer-specific specification details, hide from view those taxpayers' specifications that were correct in the original annual information return. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.) Select Addition or correction for those taxpayers whose specification details are incorrect. Select I am deleting incorrect details at Select whether you want to file new details, make corrections or delete details. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.
 - If the error is in the basic details, delete the specification details of all taxpayers by selecting Addition or correction next to the specification details and then I am deleting incorrect details. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.
- Fill in and submit a new, corrected annual information return on the taxpayers whose details you deleted. If the error is in the basic details, submit a new annual information return on all the taxpayers' details. You can use the original annual information return as a template for the new return:
 - Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
 - On the Received tab, select the original annual information return. (Do not select the deletion report you submitted previously.)
 - Select Copy as a template for a new return.
 - Correct the incorrect details:

- If the error is in the basic details, correct it. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.
- If the error is in the taxpayer-specific specification details, hide from view those taxpayers' specifications that do not need to be corrected. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.) Select Addition or correction for the taxpayer's details that are incorrect. Select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details and correct the incorrect information. Select OK. Correct all those taxpayers' specifications that are incorrect in the same way. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.

If you cannot use the original return as a template, do the following:

- Enter the basic details in the same way as in the original return. Basic details refer to the information entered before the Add specification section.
- Select Add specification.
- Select I am deleting incorrect details.
- Enter the identifying details for deletion in the same way as in the original return. Fill in the specification details on all those taxpayers whose information is incorrect. If the error is in the basic details, fill in the specification details on all the taxpayers included in the original annual information return.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit a new, corrected annual information return on the taxpayers whose details you deleted. If the error is in the basic details, submit a new annual information return on all the taxpayers' details.

3.3 Deleting information

You can delete an annual information return you have submitted in accordance with the instructions below, regardless of whether the incorrect information is identifying details or other information.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Hide from view the specifications of those taxpayers whose annual information returns you do not want to delete. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.)
- Select Addition or correction for the taxpayer whose annual information returns you want to delete. Select I am deleting incorrect details at Select whether you want to file new details, make corrections or delete details. Select OK. Make the same selection for all the taxpayer-specific specifications that you want to delete. If you want to delete the entire annual information return, make the selection for all the taxpayers' specifications.

- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.

If you cannot use the original return as a template, do the following:

- Enter the basic details in the same way as in the original return. Basic details refer to the information entered before the Add specification section.
- Select Add specification.
- Select I am deleting incorrect details.
- Enter the identifying details for deletion in the same way as in the original return. Select Add. Fill in the specification details on all those taxpayers whose annual information returns you want to delete.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.

4 IDENTIFYING DETAILS

Before making corrections to an annual information return, check whether the error is in the identifying details or in other information. The way of correcting depends on where the error is. The return-specific identifying details are the following:

5 MAKING CORRECTIONS TO ANNUAL INFORMATION RETURNS ON DIVIDENDS AND COOPERATIVE SURPLUS

The annual information returns on dividends and cooperative surplus comprise three tabs: Basic details, Specification details and Summary details. This chapter contains separate instructions on how to correct information on each tab. The instructions were prepared for making corrections to the annual information return on dividends, but they also apply to making corrections to the annual information return on surplus.

5.1 Error in basic details

If the error is on the Basic details tab, delete the entire annual information return (summary and specification details of all beneficiaries) and then submit a new annual information return.

The Basic details tab contains the following information:

Annual information return on dividends	Annual information return on cooperative surplus
Business ID of company distributing dividends	Business ID of the cooperative distributing the surplus
Payment year	Type of payment
Tax year for which dividends were distributed	Payment year
Date of decision to distribute dividends	Tax year for which surplus was distributed
Date from which dividends have been withdrawable	Date of decision to distribute surplus
Company type on the date of decision to distribute dividends	Date from which surplus has been withdrawable
	Type of cooperative on date of decision to distribute surplus

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template when making corrections. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Go to the Specification details tab. Answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends. Select Addition or correction for the beneficiary's information. Select I am deleting incorrect details at Select whether you want to file new details, make corrections or delete details. Select OK. Make the same selection for all beneficiaries.
- Go to the Specification details tab. Select I am deleting previously reported summary details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit a completely new annual information return. You can use the original annual information return as a template for the new return.
 - Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
 - On the Received tab, select the original annual information return. (Do not select the deletion report you submitted previously.)
 - Select Copy as a template for a new return.
 - Correct the incorrect information on the Basic details tab.
 - Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.

If you cannot use the original annual information return as a template, do the following:

- Select the annual information return on dividends on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Basic details tab, enter the same information as in the original report.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Select Add specification. Select I am deleting incorrect details. Report the same identifying details for deletion as you entered in the original annual information return. Select Add. Save the specification details of all beneficiaries included in the original annual information return in the same way.
- Go to the Summary details tab and select I am deleting previously reported summary details.
- Check the identifying details and go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit a completely new annual information return.

Exception: If the error is in the field Company type on the date of decision to distribute dividends on the Basic details tab, save and submit a completely new annual information return (including specifications and summary) where the company type is corrected and all the other information is the same as in the incorrect annual information return. In other words, you do not need to delete the original annual information return. You cannot correct the company type by using the original annual information return as a template.

5.2 Error in specification details

If the error is in the specification details, correct or delete only specification details. On the Specification details tab, select I am not reporting summary details.

The Specification details tab contains the following information:

Annual information return on dividends	Annual information return on cooperative surplus
Type of payment	Surplus beneficiary's personal ID or Business ID
Beneficiary's personal ID or Business ID	Name of surplus beneficiary
Beneficiary's name	Gross amount of surplus
Gross amount of dividends	Amount of tax withheld on surplus
Tax withheld on dividends	Is the beneficiary covered by YEL or MYEL insurance
Number of shares	Is the surplus tax-deductible for the cooperative
Is the beneficiary covered by YEL or MYEL insurance	Amount of equity shares in a cooperative
Has the beneficiary used an apartment/house owned by the company	Business ID of the account operator or other third-party filer that submits the return
Has the company lent money to the beneficiary
Business ID of the account operator or other third-party filer that submits the return
Filer's role
Name of the central securities depository where the share was issued
ID of the central securities depository where the share was issued
ISIN code of share

5.2.1 Error in other than identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in other than identifying details, submit a new annual information return in which the error is corrected and the other information is the same as in the original annual information return. Submit a new annual information return only on those beneficiaries' specifications that are incorrect.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template when making corrections. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Hide from view those beneficiaries' specifications that do not contain an error. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.)
- Correct the incorrect specifications by selecting Addition or correction for each incorrect specification. Then select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details and make corrections to the specification details. Select OK.
- Go to the Summary details tab. Select I am not reporting summary details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected annual information return.

If you cannot use the original annual information return as a template, do the following:

- Select the annual information return on dividends on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Basic details tab, enter the same information as in the original report.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Select Add specification.
- Select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details.
- Correct the incorrect information and submit all the other information in the same way as in the original return. Select Add. If the error is in more than one beneficiary's specification, add a corrected specification for each beneficiary.
- Go to the Summary details tab. Select I am not reporting summary details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected annual information return.

5.2.2 Error in identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in identifying details, first delete the incorrect annual information return and then submit a new, corrected return. Delete and re-submit only those taxpayers' specification details that are incorrect.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template when making corrections. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends. Hide from view those beneficiaries' specifications that were correct in the original annual information return. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.)
- Select Addition or correction for the beneficiary whose details are incorrect. Select I am deleting incorrect details. Select OK. Make the same selection for all those beneficiaries whose specification details are incorrect.
- Go to the Summary details tab and select I am not reporting summary details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit a new, corrected annual information return on those beneficiaries' specification details that you deleted. You can use the original annual information return as a template for the new return.
 - Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
 - On the Received tab, select the original annual information return. (Do not select the deletion report you submitted previously.)
 - Select Copy as a template for a new return.
 - Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends. Hide from view those beneficiaries' specifications that were correct in the original annual information return. (Tick the box at the beginning of the line to hide the specification.)
 - Select Addition or correction for the beneficiary whose details are incorrect. Select I am reporting new details or correcting previously filed details other than identifying details. Correct the incorrect detail and select OK. If the error is in more than one beneficiary's specification details, correct the details for each beneficiary.
 - Go to the Summary details tab and select I am not reporting summary details.
 - Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the return.

If you cannot use the original annual information return as a template, do the following:

- Select the annual information return on dividends on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Basic details tab, enter the same information as in the original report.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer Yes to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.

- Select Add specification.
- Select I am deleting incorrect details.
- Report the same identifying details for deletion as you entered in the original annual information return. Select Add. Report all those beneficiaries' specification details that are incorrect.
- Go to the Summary details tab and select I am not reporting summary details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit a new, corrected annual information return on those beneficiaries' specification details that you deleted.
 - Enter the same basic details in the corrected return that you reported in the original annual information return. Fill in the corrected specification details on dividends, then go to the Summary details tab and select I am not reporting summary details. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

5.3 Error in summary details

If there is an error in the summary details, correct or delete only summary details. On the Summary details tab, answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.

The Summary details tab contains the following information:

Annual information return on dividends	Annual information return on cooperative surplus
Total number of specifications	Total number of specifications

5.3.1 Error in other than identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in other than identifying details, submit a new summary in which the error is corrected and the other basic and summary details are the same as in the original annual information return.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template for a deletion report. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the annual information return on dividends that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Go to the Summary details tab. Select I am reporting new summary details or correcting previously filed details. Correct the error.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

If you cannot use the original annual information return as a template, do the following:

- Select the annual information return on dividends on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Basic details tab, enter the same information as in the original report.
- Go to the Specification details tab. Answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Go to the Summary details tab. Select I am reporting new summary details or correcting previously filed details. Fill in the corrected details.
- Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

5.3.2 Error in identifying details

Check chapter 4 of these instructions to see whether a detected error is in the identifying details or in other information.

If the error is in the identifying details, first delete the incorrect summary and then submit a new, corrected summary.

If you submitted the original annual information return through the e-service, you can use it as a template when making corrections. Do as follows:

- Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Received tab, select the return that you want to correct.
- Select Copy as a template for a new return.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Go to the Summary details tab. Select I am deleting previously reported summary details. Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit new summary details. You can use the original annual information return as a template for the new return:
 - Select Filed returns and submitted requests and applications on the home page of the e-service.
 - On the Received tab, select the original annual information return. (Do not select the deletion report you submitted previously.)
 - Select Copy as a template for a new return.
 - Go to the Specification details tab and answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
 - Go to the Summary details tab and select I am reporting new summary details or correcting previously filed details. Fill in the corrected summary details.
 - Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.

If you cannot use the original annual information return as a template, do the following:

- Select the annual information return on dividends on the home page of the e-service.
- On the Basic details tab, enter the same information as in the original report.
- Go to the Specification details tab and answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
- Go to the Summary details tab and select I am deleting previously reported summary details.
- Check the identifying details and go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the deletion report.
- Fill in and submit the new summary.
 - Enter the same basic details in the corrected return that you reported in the original annual information return. On the Specification details tab, answer No to the question Are you reporting specification details on dividends.
 - Go to the Summary details tab and select I am reporting new summary details or correcting previously filed details. Fill in the corrected summary details.
 - Go to the Preview and send tab. Check the details and submit the corrected return.
